About Us

This chapter of WEAO is a group for students in the college interested in environmental issues pertaining to water quality, wastewater treatment, water pollution prevention and reuse as well as other related issues.

Our goal is to enhance professional development of our members and facilitate current engagements in a variety of avenues including the exchange of information between chapter and WEAO members. This is accomplished through monthly meetings, networking events with professionals in the industry and guided tours of water and wastewater facilities.

Our Activities

Monthly meetings

The chapter will meet monthly to discuss various topics and issues of interest to its members. Meetings will consist of presentations carried out by a member, an industry professional, or both in order to help our members gain insight on the selected water and wastewater topics. Also, a portion of these meetings will be dedicated to providing members with job searching techniques and career options.

Networking events and industrial site visits

Members are encouraged to attend seminars and industrial site visits organized by WEAO at no charge. These events offer student chapter members opportunities to interact with professionals and gain valuable knowledge about water and wastewater facilities.

2007-2008 Steering Committee and Contacting Us

The committee is dedicated to providing opportunities for new and existing members through promotion of events, seminars and related activities which will serve to enhance knowledge and interest in water and wastewater environmental topics. If you would like to be involved or would like to offer suggestions or comments, please feel free to contact us:
